DESCRIPTION

A Hellforged Sentinel resembles an enormous warrior encased completely in blackened plate, standing just under seven feet tall. Curved horns sweep from its helm. Arcane script glows beneath its breastplate, while reddish-orange hellfire shines through the visor. The armor is empty; its motion is driven by transmutation magic bound to a demonic soul shard, with necromantic and demonological workings woven into the construct.

COMBAT

A Hellforged Sentinel advances with slow, deliberate certainty and attacks intruders with its greatsword until they retreat or it is destroyed. It does not use ranged attacks, subtle tactics, or intimidation—only relentless forward pressure and crushing blows.

RAPID REPAIR (Ex)

If damaged but not destroyed, a Hellforged Sentinel repairs 1 hit point for every full hour of inactivity.

SOUL-SHARD ANIMATION

The sentinel's demonic soul shard is the power source that animates the armor. When the construct is reduced to 0 hit points, the armor collapses and the shard is destroyed, discharged, or rendered inert.

POWER ATTACK

A Hellforged Sentinel often commits fully to heavy overhead strikes, trading accuracy for brutal force.
